Musings on Retirement
Gail Greenwood

I thought I’d retired from the Presidency of our OLLI last month when we elected my friend Bonita to be the next President. But she reminded me that our year goes from July to the end of June. How could I have forgotten? We keep telling and telling that fact to new and old members alike. So your shy and retiring soon to be ex-president gets to pontificate one more time before the June ninth party which fittingly ends this year. I hope you’ll be there to schmooze and dance and eat and play. It’s good to have fun and it’s good for your health. All the magazines aimed at seasoned citizens say so. And now I will have time to read more than the headlines of the articles.

I’m already perusing the interest groups that I can join. My former husband sometimes complained about human time management when coupled with human greed. He wisely said he usually got bored easily and then began to fill his plate with new adventures that often included responsibilities. It was exciting and interesting but soon it was overflowing, and he was stressed and rushing about. He would then begin to unload his plate. It felt very good to breathe easy until he realized he was bored again and the process repeated. I thought he was pretty smart at the time for seeing it; now I know he was.

As a full time working mother of children, I imagined the cycle of being exhausted and overcommitted would end when they left home. But I’m like my ex and just filled up the time with other things until they gave me grandchildren to squire about. I love the joy and aggravation of busy, little willful beings. But I also loved going to work when I had my own children. It gave me intellectual challenges that dear little ones covered with peanut butter just can’t provide. When I retired from thirty-four years of teaching it was heady and relaxing. I didn’t even read a book for three years. It took me a while to realize I was courting depression without the stimulation of spirited discussions (some would call arguments) I’d had with both colleagues and students.

Without any structure, and the luxury of sleeping in until eight, I wandered around trying to figure out how to entertain myself without having to go back to work. Travel was wonderful but I could not be a permanent vagabond and many of my friends couldn’t afford or didn’t want to accompany me. Since I was born an only child, I’ve never really liked having my adventures alone. One friend, who liked travel and could afford it, hated my pre C-Pap snoring so much (even though I’d brought earplugs for both of us) she abandoned me in the middle of a trip. I felt terribly guilty but didn’t know how to fix it. Forgiving her was made easier because it was she who introduced me to OLLI! I was rescued!

Here I found a new connection to my people, lots of stimulating things to do, sharing of the work that any great organization requires, and the ability to occasionally clean my plate of an excess of my greedy desire not to miss anything.

I hope you have found as much to love in our group as I have. If you haven’t yet, don’t give up. Load up your plate at the party; bring some antacid in case you eat too much; scrape your excess off without guilt and, after a breath or two, meet me in September to start again. Thank you for being such wonderful companions. See you at the general meeting, an interest group, a class, or around town now that we can at least recognize each other’s faces.

Deana Slater Retires from Colleges Nine and Ten

Mark Gordon

Over the past few years OLLI has enjoyed a deepening connection with Colleges Nine and Ten. During all this time, from our earliest conversations with the colleges about OLLI, our organization has been warmly embraced by the colleges’ administrative leader, Deana Slater. Now Deana is retiring. We will miss her terribly, but it makes us smile to think of her engaging in the next phase of her life with the remarkable energy, thoughtfulness and warmth she has displayed in abundance during the years we have known her.

Our Colleges Nine and Ten connection is an enormous asset to OLLI. We have benefitted through the Alternative Spring Break, and participation in a rich array of the colleges’ Co-Curricular offerings, including the annual Practical Activism conference each October. Our lives are richer for the opportunity to share experiences with the students we’ve met. And of course we have been able to meet in the beautiful Colleges Nine and Ten Multipurpose Room for our General Meetings during the year.

We are endlessly grateful to Deana for all the help she has extended to us in OLLI, and wish her all the best in the future. Perhaps a membership in OLLI?

In Recognition of OLLI’s Silvia Miller Scholarship Selection Committee

Bill Patterson

The task of selecting thirty scholarship awardees from the one hundred and fifty admirably worthy applicants is a challenging one, for many are desperately needy, supporting families, returning from military duty or returning to college following years in employment for their parents support. They are all 'Services for Transfer and Re-entry Students’ - STARS - applying through that office under the leadership of Sara Radoff at Kresge College.

We gather together at a Dominican Oaks Assisted Living facility and thoroughly review each request for support, attempting to identify those most ably applying themselves toward their chosen fields of endeavor.

This fall, committee members hope that the challenge of selecting only one out of five applicants in past years may be lightened with additional scholarship funds contributed by donations from OLLI members who wish to memorialize a loved one or family by naming the donation in their honor.

Our all-volunteer Silvia Miller Scholarship Selection Committee, is led by Bill Patterson at wilderwill@comcast.net. Additional members are welcome.

1916 – Spotlight Returns

Wednesdays, May 1, 8, 15, 22, 29 and June 5 10 a.m. to 12 noon

Location: Museum of Art and History, 705 Front St.

Instructor: Margot Hoffman

Come join us for this series of workshops; explore the technical, performance, and literary aspects of theater. A little theater history & literature, theater practice & performance and of course theater games. This class is designed with the students' interests and input in mind with the overall goal to understand theatrical theories, tools and applications. Break out of your shell, try something new, find your voice on the stage and have fun with new friends.

This season professional guest artists will be joining us for mini workshops on things such as but not limited to: auditions, character technical theater, play analysis, Chicano theater. Additionally, I intend to delve more into alternative theater movements and techniques (that is outside of realism).

Margot Hoffman is a teacher and professional music artist from Santa Cruz, California. She has taught theater, art, and poetry in both schools and jails, as well as being fortunate enough to work with Osher's Life Long Learner's for the past two years. Today, she works with adults at the Career Advancement Charter School in Watsonville, as well as being a board member of the Arts Council of Santa Cruz County.

1918 – Mazel by Rebbeca Goldstein

Tuesdays, June 11, 13, 18 and 20 10 a.m.-12 noon

Location: Museum of Art and History
705 Front St., Santa Cruz
Instructors: Murray Baumgarten and Peter Kenez

Rebecca Goldstein's novel, Mazel, is her great work; it is a philosophical novel, which covers more than a century of Jewish/Western culture, by telling the stories of four generations. It moves from the mid-nineteenth century Shtetl, to Emancipation, and the new opportunities it provided, including the migration to European cities, and immigration to the new world and how that provided a new arena for Jewish action. The role of the theatre is central throughout, and we know that Rebecca Goldstein worked with the Yiddish translations/performances of Shakespeare -- especially King Lear and Hamlet. Her novel works through the different genres of modern Jewish writing, it is a prizewinning novel and helped her receive a MacArthur Award. Murray will be talking about narrative strategies, feminism, and character in Mazel as well as the literary history of Jewish writing. Peter will inform us on the background--the Shtetl, the Haskalah, Urbanization, and Immigration.

You may want to start reading Mazel before the class begins.
OLLI Courses and Events on YouTube

Quite a few courses and events have been captured on video and are available on YouTube. Just go to the OLLI website at olli.ucsc.edu and scroll down a bit to the “OLLI Activities Videos on YouTube” link to access them. Todd Wipke has put a lot of work into this effort and has instructions for how to add to the channel. Please contact Todd at wipke@ucsc.edu for details on how to do it.

Newsletter Submissions

Do you know someone in OLLI who would make an interesting profile? Perhaps you have a hobby, interest or travel to share.

Send news and suggestions to our Reporter Johnna Laird (aleena12teacher@yahoo.com) or Editor David Lieby (olliucsc@gmail.com).

Please email Interest Group updates and ideas to Ginna Holcombe (ggogetter@sbcglobal.net).

Communications about courses should be directed to Lois Widom.

OLLI Volunteer Drivers Needed

Volunteers are needed to help OLLI members participate in events. This is a great way to pay it forward! One day maybe you will be the person who needs a ride. Volunteers are needed from Watsonville, Aptos, Soquel/Capitola, Santa Cruz Westside, Scotts Valley, and San Lorenzo Valley. If you can provide a ride, please contact Cindy Margolin at crmargolin@gmail.com.

Please let Cindy know where you live and what OLLI events you attend. All of us in OLLI will be grateful, especially those receiving a ride.

Interest Groups

Rev Your Creative Engines!

Ginna Holcombe

In addition to Natural History and Social Sciences groups, what about humanism, mathematics, or physics? We provide Spanish and French conversation groups - how about German, Chinese, Russian, Swahili? Given the booming microbrewery industry, isn’t beer-tasting de rigueur, in addition to Wine-Tasting? We have Walking and Adventuring groups; anybody cycle, hike, or surf? In addition to Tennis Doubles, how about canoeing, swimming, or kayaking? We offer American History and Literature; what about history or literature from another culture or country? In addition to Folk Singing, anyone enjoy barbershop quartet, classical, or shaped-note singing? We have a Bridge group; do you play pinochle, dominoes, chess, parcheesi, Monopoly?

Once board approval is granted, announcements go out to all OLLI members. You and your group decide meeting frequency, time, duration, and structure. What could be easier or more fun?!

Need more encouragement? See our March and April Newsletter for an excellent article by Joan Rose who, together with husband Lou, lead three very active and long-standing OLLI interest groups. Lou’s 6year-old Folk Singing group has more than 20 regular members, including both instrumentalists and singers. Joan’s 7year-old Read it Again, Sam group would benefit from a second such group since its 11 members strain to enable everyone to speak during discussions. Joan also has led a New Yorker group for 11 years, which regularly turns away potential new members - and she’s happy to help YOU start another always-needed New Yorker group.

Two of you sought my help independently because you miss a fiction-writing group and Creative Writing was active before my time. Yet Fiction Novel Writing was offered recently but didn’t quite get off the ground because more members were needed to make it worthwhile. If you really want to make it happen, please email Grace Gerbrandt (graceger@sbcglobal.net)!

On the Horizon

Remember that Navigating Retirement, led by Katrina Cope (katrina.cope@gmail.com) and Nancy Calvin (nancycalvin52@gmail.com), is returning this fall.

Another new group, Campus Caravan, is offered by Mary Carvalho and begins this fall. Members will meet at Mary’s house, walk 20 minutes to the UCSC entrance, and take a campus bus to explore the campus; destinations and activities will be determined by the group.

And how many of you miss those wonderful movie nights hosted by Jim and Paula Faris? Get your popcorn, folks! Bill Patterson will begin monthly meetings of a new interest group, Favorite Flicks, where members, in turn, will host, introduce, and show a favorite film. Each month, one member will show their very favorite movie and share their feelings and experiences about it, explaining how it became one of their ‘Favorite Flicks. A Group size must be limited since films will be shown in members’ homes so hurry up - email Bill at wilderwill@comcast.net to enroll.

We always need more reading and writing groups and new ones from two members new to this OLLI chapter are likely. Cheryl Storz, who participated in a Great Books discussion group elsewhere, is considering opening a third group here when she discovered ours could accept no more members. Similarly, Jackie Shurtleff belonged to a book group for many years before moving here and intends to begin an additional west side group. Thanks to you both!

Okay, Friends, here I sit… just waiting to hear your proposals for new interest groups. Email me at GGoGetter@sbcglobal.net. Go ahead!
